Honoring the parents, teachers, staff, clergy and benefactors that provide an education rooted in faith.

Thomas Chadzutko Ed.D, Superintendent – Catholic School Support Services

Reverend Monsignor David L. Cassato,
Vicar for Catholic Schools

Beginning on January 30th, our Catholic Academies and Parish Schools will begin the celebration of Catholic Schools Week. Catholic Schools Week is a wonderful opportunity to reflect upon the achievements, successes, and joys that are the fabric of Catholic education. It is also a time to honor the individuals that are the foundation of Catholic schools. The image for Catholic Schools Week depicts a roof being raised by a collective effort. This image is the epitome of progress within Catholic education. The love, commitment, and faithfulness of stakeholders in our Catholic Academies and Parish Schools is pivotal in their success.

We extend my sincere gratitude to the clergy who choose each day to commit their service to the Lord. You are models of the faith to your parishioners as well as the students and families. You serve as a shepherd for our school faith communities. For many, especially pastors and clergy that participate in Academy Boards, you have accepted additional roles willingly and without hesitation. Your dedication to the preservation and promulgation of the faith through parishes and schools is tremendous.

We have been fortunate to spend a significant amount of time in our classrooms and schools. Within each visit or school update, we are struck by the dedicated individuals who work tirelessly to bring faith-filled education to life. The teachers and principals that lead our schools and classrooms are living examples of Christ. As Jesus was a shepherd, so too are teachers and principals. They are tasked with the immense responsibility of cultivating the faith in our children. This is both a huge responsibility and a gift that we are eternally thankful for their continued “yes” to support and fulfilling the mission of Catholic education. Our principals and staff have continued to focus on strengthening faith-based education through vibrant religious instruction. We are consistently focusing on the core of our mission; helping students grow in their love and knowledge of Christ.

At the heart of our Catholic School communities is the families who are making the conscious effort to have their children engage in a faith-based education. There are endless choices for academic opportunities yet, our families understand and seek the difference that comes from an education rooted in faith. Parents are our children’s first teachers. We are grateful for parents who instill the roots of faith and values in their children’s hearts and demonstrate the importance of living a life as Christ desires. Our faith community is continuing to expand even as the Diocese has face challenges from the COVID-19 pandemic. We look at our Catholic Academy and Parish School communities with a sense of great hope. The students and families that comprise these school communities are a true light during a dark time.

For many families, our Catholic Academies and Parish Schools were a source of security in an extremely uncertain time. Enrollment has increased throughout the Diocese this year with an influx of new students from community and public schools. New families have immediately noticed the “Catholic School difference” and are choosing to remain a part of our nurturing, faith filled communities. When we visit the schools, both virtually and in-person, we are filled with joy in seeing the authentic display of faith from our students. We believe that these children will be our future in their ability to be a light to others and saints in the making. They are true examples of Christ.

As we celebrate Catholic Schools Week, we thank each stakeholder for their role in supporting and growing the mission of Catholic education. I encourage parishioners, neighbors, and families to take time this week to learn more about their local schools. Websites and social media provide a snapshot of the success within the Catholic Academies and Parish Schools but the best way to experience our schools is through touring and interacting with the school community. The following link will help you find a school near you www.catholicschoolsbq.org/find-a-school/

We look forward to greeting your family and showing the truly remarkable “Catholic school difference.” Happy Catholic Schools Week!
